

GenSearch is selected by Bpifrance for their HealthTech Accelerator

Friday, 8th December 2017, Paris France. GenSearch has been selected by the Bpifrance to help their new start-up support model that is focused on the healthcare sector and called the 'HealthTech Accelerator Hub'.

The HealthTech Accelerator offers selected Bio-Tech, Med-Tech and e-health companies' access to expertise and advice from recognised experts and mentoring companies to develop a tailor-made program adapted to sector-specific issues such as human resources, intellectual property, international expansion, regulatory requirements, capital needs, etc.

For 2017/2018, the first batch of seven start-ups has been selected to benefit from the HealthTech Accelerator Hub for one year.

"We are really proud to have been selected by Bpifrance to support this first group. This is in line with the projects we already provide for other incubators and clusters. Our aim as an Executive Search and HR consultancy firm is to support start-ups to reach their full potential by adding value and performance to their teams through sharing our in-depth expertise in the international Life Sciences market. It is with enthusiasm that we contribute to the development of the HealthTech sector and this is why we organise events such as our "Biotech Dinners" to bring together starts ups, investors, journalists and students. We also partner with Life Science Universities to advise students on their future careers." said Pauline Rambaud, Senior Consultant, GenSearch

GenSearch will help these start-ups by supporting them with their key HR needs whether they be organisational issues, coaching or recruitment.
